3. Privacy Policy

3.1 What personal data do we collect and how do we collect it?

We collect a series of personal data only for legitimate and clearly defined purposes, which are the basis of our activity and communication with you, and their processing is always based on your explicit consent for each situation, as follows:

Anonymised and statistical data

The content of this website is informative and accessing it does NOT involve the collection of personal data, but only anonymized and statistical data about the access and performance of the website, collected through Google Analytics – number of visitors, pages accessed, browser type, device type, etc. Google Analytics uses cookies for this purpose, and details about them can be found here. If cookies are disabled in your browser, then Google Analytics will not record data about your visit to this website.

Pseudo-anonymised data

User interaction with this website or its administrator involves the processing, validation and processing of pseudo-anonymized data (pseudo-anonymized data means data that could identify a person, but we do not verify whether this data is real), obtained by filling in the registration form.

3.2 How do we protect your personal data?

This website requests data that it saves in the database or forwards to the administrator's email address. Access to this data is limited only to the website administrator, and the computer systems on which they are saved are secure and up to date.

This website is secure, constantly updated and uses an encrypted connection using an SSL certificate and HTTPS protocol, in order not to allow interception of data circulated between the server and users by third parties.

3.3 With whom do we share personal data?

The collected data will be shared with the Congress partners only if explicit consent is given in the registration form and will be used for the purpose of organizing the ITS Romania Congress 2025 event, Resita, November 6-7, 2025.
